1. Unit Description:

In this unit we will give a presentation on our own research as though we were at an actual academic presentation session. We aim to hone our presentation skills through realistic practice employing the expressions and techniques we have learned thus far selecting and applying them appropriately.

2. Skills / Areas to be developed:

Enhancing the abilities to make academic presentations, to use the skills and expressions we have learned as fully as possible, and to choose the correct skills and expressions for the given situation.

3. Allotted Class Time: One period

4. Goals: "Can Do"

- 1) Be able to select the correct skills and expressions to apply.
- 2) Be able to use the learned skills and expressions as fully as possible.
- 3) Further enhance our individual presentation skills.

5. Tasks:

- 1) Homework assignment: Prepare a seven-minute presentation on our own research.
- 2) Presentation: Present the prepared presentation before the group.
- 3) Qs and As session: Ask and answer questions on each presentation.
- 4) Asking questions: Ask as many questions as possible on presentation 2.
- 5) Critical comments: Through listening to each other's ideas and exchanging constructive criticism, gain a better understanding of our own strong points and areas for improvement. The instructor's comments will also serve as a reference.

6. Materials:

- Prepare everything necessary for own presentation
- Checklist for Individual Presentation
- Video camera and tape
