

Important notice regarding the entrance examination conducted in the winter of FY2023 (January 2024)

The entrance examination for the Genetics Program is held in 2 days and composed of a written exam (held on the first day) and an oral exam (held on the second day). In view of the influence of COVID-19, for the entrance examination conducted in the winter of FY2023 (January 2024), the following changes will apply: both written and oral exams will be conducted through the Internet remotely.

Please refer to the notice mailed before the examination for detailed schedule and method.

	Normal Time	Entrance Examination Conducted in the Winter of FY2023 (January 2024)
Written Exam (on the first day)	The written exam is held at the National Institute of Genetics located in Mishima, Japan. The written exam is for 3 hours.	Applicants will take the written exam at their home. A question sheet and an answer sheet (electronic files; password-locked) will be emailed to applicants before the exam. On the exam day, a password will be emailed at the starting time of the exam. Applicants will finish the exam in 3 hours. The answer may be entered directly to the electronic file (Microsoft Word or pdf) and/or in handwriting on a printed answer sheet. After 3 hours from the starting time (at the end of the written exam), an electronic file of complete answer sheet should be submitted by email within 20 minutes (before submission, a handwritten answer should be converted to an electronic file).
Oral Exam (on the second day)	The oral exam is held at the National Institute of Genetics located in Mishima, Japan. The exam is in 30 minutes for each applicant, and is attended by all the faculty. First, the applicant makes a five-minute presentation on either his/her past research or a future research proposal, followed by a Q&A session on the applicant's presentation, written exam, and proposed research.	The oral exam will be conducted through the Internet remotely by a Zoom or Webex web meeting, and applicants will participate from their home. The exam will be in 30 minutes for each applicant, and will be attended by all the faculty. First, the applicant will make a five-minute presentation on either his/her past research or a future research proposal, followed by a Q&A session on the applicant's presentation, written exam, and proposed research.

		Applicants will prepare and submit a document that will be referred in their five-minute presentation (A4, 1 page; text and/or illustration) in advance. Refer to the notice mailed before the examination for the submission deadline and other details.
